BITTER-SWEET SENSE OF GLADNESS IS THAT OF ENGLISH ON XMAS

Bitter Because of Sufferings; Sweet Because Xmas Spirit Cannot Be Killed

NO BELLS ARE RUNG

Spirit of Comradeship More Widespread Than Ever Among All Classes

(Editor's Note: Sir Philip Gibbs, famous British author and journalist, who won renown as a war correspondent in the world conflict of 1914-1918, in the following article tells of the "bitter-sweet sense of gladness" with which war-time England celebrated Christmas Day. A prolific novelist, historian and essayist, Sir Philip is an acknowledged expert on warfare and European affairs and has written numerous historical accounts of the World War's most famous battles. Here he vividly portrays Christmas during the battle of Britain.)

By Sir Philip Gibbs
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 26—(INS)—For the first time in a thousand years no church bells rang this Christmas Day in England. If they had rung, we should have leaped from our beds, knowing that the enemy had landed on Christmas Eve.

Twelfth Night Ceremony Planned By Girl Scouts

ANDALUSIA, Dec. 26—A Twelfth Night ceremony will conclude the Christmas season for Andalusia Troop of Girl Scouts. This is planned for Tuesday, January 6th, when the Scouts will take their Christmas trees to a designated spot and burn them in the traditional manner.

The public is invited to attend the ceremony, the place for the event to be announced later.

Since the beginning of November, the girls have been mending and collecting clothing, and painting and repairing toys. These were dispersed among several needy families at Christmas time.

APPROPRIATE SERMON GIVEN FOR YULETIDE

Rev. Lehmann Straus Dwells On Subject: "His Name Shall Be Called Wonderful"

IN CALVARY CHURCH

A discourse on the Biblical passage, "His name shall be called Wonderful," was presented by Lehmann Straus, pastor, in Calvary Baptist Church, at a special Christmas service on Tuesday evening.

A condensation of the sermon appears herewith:

A little more than 700 years B. C., the Prophet Isaiah foretold the birth of the Lord Jesus Christ. In Chapter nine and verse six, he said, "For unto us a Child is born unto us a Son is given; and the government shall be upon His shoulder; and His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace."

Of all the titles given to our Lord in the Old Testament, the name "Wonderful" towers like a mountain peak above them all. For, those of us who have come to know and trust Him as a personal Saviour, He is indeed, Wonderful.

1: He Was Wonderful In His Creative Power.

It was our Wonderful Lord who was in the beginning with the Father, when planets were spoken into existence. When God said, "Let Us make man" He was expressing the presence and power of His Son, Jesus Christ.

At Christmas time, our thoughts and hymns have much to do with the Star of Bethlehem, little realizing the infinite power behind the stars. They glitter with eternal glory since our Lord became incarnate, for, they are the wisdom of His mind. They are innumerable, and cannot be counted, the wonder of His might. The Psalmist

Resident Here 17 Years Dies After Short Illness

Ernest Clough, who came to Bristol from Greystone, R. I., 17 years ago, died at his home, 265 McKinley street, Tuesday, at the age of 45 years. He had been ill but a short time.

An employee of William H. Grundy Company, Mr. Clough leaves a sister, Mrs. Anna Newbold, Greystone, R. I.; and a brother, George Clough, of Greenville, R. I. The deceased was a member of Roger Williams Lodge, F. & M., of Greystone.

The Rev. George E. Boswell, rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, will conduct the service at the funeral home of Robert C. Ruel, 314 Cedar street, tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock. Burial will be made in Bristol Cemetery, and friends may call this evening.

Felix A. Losink, III For Long Time, Dies Wednesday

Felix A. Losink, a native of Europe who came to the United States in 1905, died at his home, Park avenue and Hulmeville Road, Bensalem Township, yesterday.

Mr. Losink was the husband of Florence E. Losink, and leaves also a son, Albert J. Losink, Bensalem Township; two sisters and five brothers.

Ill for some time, death of Mr. Losink was caused by a heart ailment. For the past 20 years he had conducted a general store at Park avenue and Hulmeville Road.

The funeral will be held on Saturday at 1:30 p. m. from the late home of the deceased, with burial in Oakland Cemetery, Philadelphia. Friends may call Friday evening. The funeral is in charge of George Molden, funeral director.

Ernest Knecht, Croydon, Dies at Sellersville

A resident of Croydon, Ernest Knecht, died at Sellersville yesterday, at the age of 68 years. He was the husband of Amelia Knecht. Mr. Knecht is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Thomas Donohue, and Mrs. William O'Keefe; and three sons, Ernest, Jr., Frederick and Charles Knecht, all of Croydon; also six grandchildren.

For the past 10 years he had been retired.

The funeral will be held from the residence of the daughter of the deceased, Mrs. Donohue, Oak avenue, Croydon, on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. Burial in Bristol Cemetery will be in charge of Robert C. Ruel, funeral director. Friends may call Friday evening.

Germans Fine Orleans 1,000,000 Francs

London, Dec. 26—Quoting the French radio, Reuters today reported that German military authorities had fined the city of Orleans 1,000,000 francs following the cutting of a military telephone line there.

Announce Sinking of British Cruiser

Rome, Dec. 26—One British light cruiser was sunk, another warship was damaged, and two large enemy merchant vessels were sent to the bottom in Italian submarine and air attacks, the Fascist high command announced today.

Hitler Visits Patrol Boat

Berlin, Dec. 26—Chancellor Hitler paid a surprise Christmas Eve visit aboard a German naval patrol boat "somewhere in the west," it was disclosed today.

Balmy Weather Creates Freak Stories

Balmy Christmas weather produced a series of interesting freak stories today.

Waterbury, Conn., reported its warmest Christmas in 51 years with a temperature of 62. It was 61 in Syracuse, N. Y., and 58 in New York City. Charles Reiman, of West Seneca, N. Y., reported he was stung by a bee, and Mrs. Charles Anderson, of Buffalo, said she saw a butterfly. Ice skates and ski suits given to children remained snug in their boxes but roller skates were put to immediate use.

Believed Hitler Conferred With Admiral Darlan

Vichy, France, Dec. 26—Strong rumors, which found no authorized confirmation, hinted today that French navy minister Admiral Darlan may have held a Yuletide conference with Chancellor Hitler.

Authorities at Vichy confirmed that Darlan went to Paris for a two-day visit. Revelation at Berlin that Hitler spent Christmas Eve on a German naval patrol boat "somewhere in the west"—presumably in the English Channel—gave rise to rumors that Darlan and the Fuehrer have met.

There was no indication where the meeting might have occurred.

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

When memorials were dedicated at Nockamixon Church in Ferndale, on Sunday, a carpet, the gift of Robert L. Clymer and Mr. and Mrs. Edward O. Steeley, was dedicated to the memory of parents of Mrs. Steeley and Mr. Clymer.

The church has been redecorated, and new pulpits and other memorial gifts placed.

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Inswiler, of Colmar, was observed on Sunday, when a dinner was served at their home.

Former residents of Delaware, they have resided in Colmar for the past quarter century.

The annual Yule party was tendered to guests at the Tabor Home by members of the Doylestown Kiwanis Club on Monday evening.

A dinner was served at Doylestown Inn to club members, with their wives and friends as guests. Later the party went to the Tabor Home for children, and conducted a party. Santa Claus arrived with a carload of toys and clothing.

Monday night, December 30th, at the Doylestown Inn, the annual installation of new officers of the club will take place. President Harold Zeek will be succeeded by Nathan J. Gorlick, who will be installed by the new Pennsylvania Governor of Kiwanis, Vic Diehm, of Hazleton. The retiring lieutenant governor, Elmer Menges, of Ambler, and the new lieutenant governor, J. Leonard Halderman, will be in attendance.

The executive committee of the Perkasie Branch of the Needlework Guild of America enjoyed a covered dish luncheon and meeting at the home of Miss Elizabeth Groff. Fourteen members were present.

The resignation of Mrs. Mildred Kramer as secretary was received, and accepted. Miss Elizabeth Groff, who was assistant secretary, was appointed secretary. Mrs. William High was appointed assistant secretary.

Sixteen Entertained At A Dinner in Langhorne

LANGHORNE, Dec. 26—Mrs. Christian V. Tomlinson was hostess at a Christmas party on Saturday evening, given by the card club of which she is a member. Husbands of the members were guests on this occasion, with dinner being served to the following:

Mr. and Mrs. John Conyers, Mr. and Mrs. William Nyse, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Faber, Edgely; Mr. and Mrs. William Lovett, Emilie; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Webster, Hulmeville; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Federkeil, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sheese, and Mr. and Mrs. Tomlinson.

Robinson was going east on Pond street and Tomlinson was traveling over Walnut street.

Robinson suffered a slight concussion of the brain. He returned home yesterday.

Early this morning some motorist hit the car of Armand V. Morris, which was parked at Radcliffe and Washington streets. The motorist drove away and so far has not been located by the police to whom the case was reported.

The right front of the Morris car was damaged.

Tots in Kindergarten Are Guests at A Jolly Party

The kindergarten class taught by Miss Adella Wright, enjoyed a Christmas party Friday in the class room in Miss Wright's home.

Hearing a noise they found that Santa had dropped bundles down the chimney. Each one received a gift as well as a candy novelty.

Those attending: Bradley Ardrey, Jr., John Appleton, Judith Focht, May Ann Boyd, Eleanor Forster.

VISITS MOTHER

Mrs. Martha Vetter, Bath Addition, is entertaining her son, Frank Vetter, who was a patient in the Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., for the past 11 months. He came home December 22nd and will return to the hospital December 29th.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

The Boom is Coming

Washington, Dec. 25.

AS the armament billions begin to pour out and our defense effort really gets under way, it is inevitable that there should be a tremendous business boom. Everybody—politicians as well as economists, labor leaders as well as industrialists—knows it is coming. The more intelligent know, too, that for a variety of reasons the period of prosperity just ahead is going to be different in some important respects from any such period we have had before.

FIRST, of course, there will be full production, full employment and overtime employment so-called "heavy industries," which produce iron, steel, ships, tools, planes, factory equipment and manufacturing construction. Very soon all workers in the heavy industries will be fully employed at good wages turning out war material of one kind or another for the army, the navy and the British.

It is, the economists say, when the workers in the heavy industries begin to spend their wages in buying the products of the light industries, which make consumers' goods, that the boom in those begins. Before the middle of next year, the expectation is, both light and heavy industries will be fully employed and producing to capacity.

BUSINESS students of the situation do not believe that this general boom in industry will result in a sudden and extreme advance in the cost of living, but they do believe that a good many prices will go up and none at all will de-

William H. Hatfield To Be Buried in Passaic

Funeral will be held in Passaic, N. J., tomorrow for William H. Hatfield, Trenton avenue, who died in Abington Hospital, on Monday of peritonitis, following an operation.

Mr. Hatfield, who was stricken suddenly ill on Sunday, was the husband of Mary Hatfield.

Throughout yesterday relatives and friends called at the Hatfield residence, 2014 Trenton avenue, to pay respects to the deceased, the William I. Murphy Estate, funeral directors, being in charge of arrangements.

There will be mass tomorrow at a church in Passaic, with burial in St. Mary's Cemetery in that city.

PAIR OF VASES GIVEN TO ST. JAMES' CHURCH

Gifts of St. James' Circle, in Memory of Two Deceased Members

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 26—A settlement was reached Tuesday in a damage claim by two Bridgewater girls versus the defendant, George Ardrey, Bristol.

Following a hearing in the Court of Common Pleas Judge Calvin S. Boyer authorized the settlement in the cases of Dorothy Kuntz, 14, and Maria Theresa Mitchell, 12, both of Bridgewater versus George Ardrey of Bristol.

The minor plaintiffs will each receive the sum of $150 and expenses, which include the payment of doctors' and hospital bills. Dorothy Kuntz, through her mother, Mrs. Beulah Kuntz, was claiming total damages of $315.

Marie Theresa Mitchell, through her parents, James D. Mitchell and Maria Mitchell, claimed total damages of $429.50. The Mitchell girl suffered a fracture of the left leg.

The accident happened May 11 on Route 13, near Bridgewater, where the girls were riding bicycles.

John Grimes, 38, formerly of Jamison and Kintnersville, who pleaded guilty to assault and battery and was sentenced in June to serve not less than nine months nor more than three years, was granted a parole on condition that he be subject to a detainer filed by James Reddington, Kintnersville.

The detainer grows out of a warrant filed by the Kintnersville man before he was arrested in March, following an altercation at the home of his father-in-law and wife in Durham township. Judge Keller warned Grimes about returning to Bucks county and Durham township in order to see his wife.

"If your wife wishes to see you she may come to Philadelphia, but you are not supposed to visit your father-in-law's place in Durham township without the knowledge or permission of Parole Officer Horace E. Gwinner," said Judge Boyer.

Grimes, who began his sentence in March, when he was arrested, assured Judge Boyer he would obtain employment at Cramp's Shipyards in Philadelphia.

Ralph Herman, 21, Emilie, who pleaded guilty to burglary and larceny, was granted a parole on condition that he pay the costs of prosecution which amounted to $126.73. Judge Boyer directed the youth to repay to his father the costs of prosecution as part of the condition on which the son was released from prison. He served his minimum of one month.

Chester Conrad, 23, Newtown, who pleaded guilty to drunken driving and was sentenced December 2 to serve not less than one month nor more than three years, was paroled by Judge Boyer on condition that he support his wife, which he has been doing, and pay $20 of the costs of prosecution in installments of $2.50 a week. The costs of prosecution amounted to $40.61.

Four parole petitions and a number of miscellaneous items were before the Court Monday with Judges Hiram H. Keller and Calvin S. Boyer on the bench. This was the last session of Court until Jan. 6.

The trial list for the January term of civil and equity court was read. There are 25 cases on the list, all in Common Pleas, and all marked for trial but one.

Announcement was made that additional Quarter Sessions courts will be in session on the first Tuesday of each month with the exception of August for the hearing of miscellaneous Quarter Sessions cases exclusively, starting in

King's Youth Club Holds Pleasing Yuletide Affair

ANDALUSIA, Dec. 26—The King's Youth Club held its annual Xmas party on Monday evening, the members being guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gardiner.

The house was decorated with mistletoe, greens, and a tree. Santa Claus, in the person of Mrs. Rex Hunter, distributed gifts to every member.

The club presented Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Ingram, directors of the club, with a gift as a token of appreciation for their hospitality, and work during the past year.

Mrs. Barnett, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Still, Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Hunter, as representatives of the board of directors, also received gifts.

The club held devotional exercises, consisting of the singing of the theme song, "Jesus Never Fails," and the reciting of the Lord's Prayer.

The evening program consisted of the singing of carols, folk songs, and patriotic songs, and the singing was interspersed with recitations. Mrs. Gardiner sang a solo. A buffet supper was served.

The club will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Hunter on December 30th, at their home on Grant avenue. Tickets

ASTROLOGICAL BRIDGE

To most of the multitude who give some of their leisure hours to the game of contract bridge, it must seem as though the experts had introduced enough complications. What with the system this and the meaning of that, and the count of holding values based on this and based on that, a lot of the fun has been taken out of the game.

It all may be very scientific but it is also very puzzling. And what of the fellow who likes to gamble a bit on a situation? He is simply pushed onto the side lines. He hasn't a chance for his marbles. He might as well turn his attention to one old maid or something equally as innocuous. Bridge is no longer a game, it's a job.

And now it seems addicts are to be introduced to another form of the game—astrological bridge. At any rate an astrologer and bridge player holds that contract fans should be very careful about playing with partners whose zodiac signs are inharmonious with their own. It seems that, in this person's views, the stars have a great deal to do with bridge, perhaps quite as much as those humans who profess superhuman knowledge of the mysteries of card combinations. If one happens to be born under the sign of cancer, he may be too easily influenced; if he is born under sagittarius his stubbornness may destroy what should be a winning combination. If he is a gemini he may be both.

Maybe there is something in it. From the beginning of time there have been those who hold that the stars, faraway as they are, have wielded great influence upon human beings. Therefore it is possible that the astrologers are only coming into their own in the great pastime of contentious humans. But most persons will remain unconvinced of the possibility. Enough is enough, and the game would be improved by ruling out some of the exactions imposed by the masters—and the stars with them. Some critics may be fussy about little things, but if the production and examination of horoscopes is to become a preliminary to play they are going back, say, to eucure.

TOO CLOSE FOR COMFORT

How quickly the war can reach into American waters has been demonstrated twice in quick succession. There was the "long-distance" engagement between the British auxiliary cruiser Carnarvon Castle and a German raider off Montevideo, Uruguay, from which the former emerged with a badly shelled superstructure, and there was the capture of the Nazi freighter Idarwald just off Cuba.

The first battle is reminiscent of that other incident in which the Graf Spee was scuttled after a running fight. But the operations off Cuba are something different. Although both are in violation of the "safety zone" drawn around the two American continents, the capture of the Nazi freighter occurred at this nation's very back door. Whether U. S. patrols were not in the vicinity or were winking an eye one can only guess but the scene is almost too close for comfort.

Drama is added to the encounter by the report that President Roosevelt was cruising in adjacent waters. The point is, however, that if it can happen once, why not many times? And why not with the objective this nation's shipping, or the Panama Canal?

FASHION PARADE

By Jane Cochran
(I. N. S. Fashion Editor)

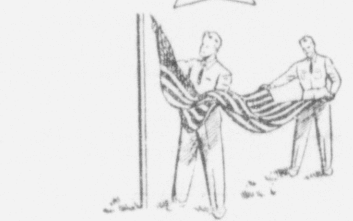

NEW YORK — (INS) — Children's clothes modeled after those worn by Britain's Royal Princesses are the newest outfits offered to American youngsters.

American mothers envy the excellent tweeds, fine tailoring and styling of the clothes but the clothes themselves are designed with the preference of the very young set in mind.

The Princesses, Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, often dress alike and both favor jackets with pleated skirts to match or contrast. They like their outfits interchangeable.

Three-button jackets in plain colors are worn with checkered skirts. Matching suede shoes and pull-on felt hats.

Today's Lesson in Flag Etiquette

● Never let the American flag touch the ground or the floor, or trail in the water.

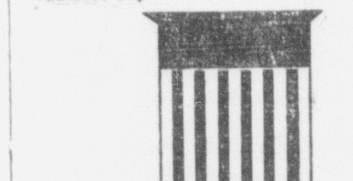

● Make sure the flag never touches the ground when placed in a fixed position upon a grave.

● When used to cover a basket, the flag should be placed so that the stars are at the head in the upper right hand corner (over the heart) looking from the foot. The flag should not be lowered into the grave nor allowed to touch the ground.

● The flag should never be draped over the hood, top, sides or back of a vehicle, train, automobile or boat. When displayed on a motor car, the staff should be attached firmly to the chassis or clamped to the radiator cap.

● The shield of the United States has 13 vertical stripes, 7 white and 6 red, topped by a field of blue without stars.

Wedding of Miss Phipps and Mr. Hart Occurs on Christmas

A wedding ceremony which was solemnized on Christmas afternoon in St. James' Episcopal Church by the Rev. George E. Boswell, attracted a large number of residents. At the hour of four o'clock, Miss Margaret Elizabeth Phipps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phipps, 554 Bath street, became the wife of Mr. Ralph Wesley Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Wesley Hart, Bristol Township.

"I Love You Truly" and "Because" were vocal solos sung by Mrs. Horace Smith, of Bath Addition; and the wedding marches were played by Mrs. Minerva Epstein, organist.

The former Miss Phipps was attended by Miss Helen DeWitte, Edgely, as maid of honor; and the Misses Anita Zug, Jackson street, and Thelma Hart, Bristol Township, as bridesmaids. Miss Hart is a sister of the groom. The little flower girls were Patricia Phipps, Croydon, and Marcia Jane Phipps, Trenton, N. J., nieces of the bride.

Mr. Hart had as his best man, Mr. Vernon Howell, Dorrance street; and serving as ushers were Messrs. John Canfield, Garden street, and Joseph

Today's Quiet Moment

(By Howard L. Zepp, Th. M.)

Heavenly Father, pour out Thy light of heaven upon our hearts that we may in some measure comprehend Thy Gift to us. We thank Thee for this season's spirit of good will. Flood our hearts with love and envelop us with solicitude for all Thy children. Help us to hold this glow, so that we may not drop back into the abyss of bickering, fault-finding and selfishness from which we emerged to honor Thee at Christmas time. Amen.

Phipps, Philadelphia, a cousin of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attractively gowned in broad white satin, the skirt being floor length. At the front of the V-neck-line was a cluster of flowers; and the short sleeves were puffed. A lace headress of floral design was finger-tip veil of lace. The bride wore white satin slippers, and carried a white prayer book from which was suspended a shower of white roses.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids wore gowns which were fashioned like that worn by the bride. Miss DeWitte, the maid of honor, was attired in pink brocade satin; and the Misses Zug and Hart in aqua brocade satin. Miss DeWitte's peaked bonnet was of pink net with rosebud trim; while the bridesmaids wore heart-shaped hats of net to match their gowns. Each of the trio of attendants wore long lace mitts matching the color of their gowns, silver slippers, and carried arm sprays of pink rosebuds.

The floor-length dress of Marcia Jane Phipps, one of the flower girls, was of blue taffeta, with trim of pink; while Patricia Phipps, the other flower girl wore pink taffeta trimmed in blue. A floral spray formed the head-dress, these matching the trim on the individual dresses. Each child carried a basket of flowers.

For attendance at the marriage ceremony Mrs. Phipps, mother of the bride, chose a gown of grape-toned chiffon velvet, a hat of black felt with flower trim matching her gown, and accessories of black. Mrs. Hart, the groom's mother, wore an ensemble of black. Each had a corsage of white sweet peas.

Following a reception at St. James' parish house, Mr. Hart and his bride left for a few days' trip to New York City. For the journey Mrs. Hart was attired in a dress of blue velvet, coat of teal blue with trim of brown fur, and she wore brown accessories. Upon their return they will reside with the bride's parents for a time.

Numerous Cases Are Settled At Session of Court

January. This new rule of court will greatly relieve the congestion of the regular terms.

Judge Boyer handed down the following divorces: Mary Ellen McCole, Yardley R. D., against James B. McCole, 701 Garden street, Bristol, grounds, cruel and barbarous treatment. They were married June 3, 1933, at South Langhorne.

William Edgar Davis, Edgington, against Dorothy K. Davis, Willow Grove, grounds, desertion. They were married June 27, 1936.

The Court approved a compromise settlement this morning, in the suit of Mrs. Frances Vandegriff Carpenter, of Purling, against the estate of William Shive, amounting to $3500.

Mrs. Carpenter was seriously burned in an automobile accident on the Buckingham pike, which necessitated numerous skin graftings and plastic surgery at the Doylestown Emergency Hospital, where she was a patient for months. Her recovery has been very satisfactory. Mrs. Carpenter, who formerly was Frances Vandegriff, had hospital, doctor and medical bills amounting to $3038.60.

Russell Vandegriff, of Bensalem township, who was sentenced last November by Judge Keller to serve 4 months to 2 years in the Bucks County Prison, was granted a parole about a month before the expiration of the minimum sentence. Vandegriff was charged with wantonly pointing a firearm at his son.

Sheriff William L. Stackhouse informed the Court that he was sure that Vandegriff had "learned his lesson" and had been a "good prisoner." The costs were placed on the county. Mrs. Vandegriff has a wife and several children.

ASTROLOGICAL BRIDGE

To most of the multitude who give some of their leisure hours to the game of contract bridge, it must seem as though the experts had introduced enough complications. What with the system this and the meaning of that, and the count of holding values based on this and based on that, a lot of the fun has been taken out of the game.

It all may be very scientific but it is also very puzzling. And what of the fellow who likes to gamble a bit on a situation? He is simply pushed onto the side lines. He hasn't a chance for his marbles. He might as well turn his attention to one old maid or something equally as innocuous. Bridge is no longer a game, it's a job.

And now it seems addicts are to be introduced to another form of the game—astrological bridge. At any rate an astrologer and bridge player holds that contract fans should be very careful about playing with partners whose zodiac signs are inharmonious with their own. It seems that, in this person's views, the stars have a great deal to do with bridge, perhaps quite as much as those humans who profess superhuman knowledge of the mysteries of card combinations. If one happens to be born under the sign of cancer, he may be too easily influenced; if he is born under sagittarius his stubbornness may destroy what should be a winning combination. If he is a gemini he may be both.

Maybe there is something in it. From the beginning of time there have been those who hold that the stars, faraway as they are, have wielded great influence upon human beings. Therefore it is possible that the astrologers are only coming into their own in the great pastime of contentious humans. But most persons will remain unconvinced to the possibility. Enough is enough, and the game would be improved by ruling out some of the exactions imposed by the masters—and the stars with them. Some critics may be fussy about little things, but if the production and examination of horoscopes is to become a preliminary to play they are going back, say, to eudra.

TOO CLOSE FOR COMFORT

How quickly the war can reach into American waters has been demonstrated twice in quick succession. There was the "long-distance" engagement between the British auxiliary cruiser Carnarvon Castle and a German raider off Montevideo, Uruguay, from which the former emerged with a badly shelled superstructure, and there was the capture of the Nazi freighter Idarwald just off Cuba.

The first battle is reminiscent of that other incident in which the Graf Spee was scuttled after a running fight. But the operations off Cuba are something different. Although both are in violation of the "safety zone" drawn around the two American continents, the capture of the Nazi freighter occurred at this nation's very back door. Whether U. S. patrols were not in the vicinity or were winking an eye one can only guess but the scene is almost too close for comfort.

Drama is added to the encounter by the report that President Roosevelt was cruising in adjacent waters. The point is, however, that if it can happen once, why not many times? And why not with the objective this nation's shipping, or the Panama Canal?

FASHION PARADE

By Jane Cochran
(I. N. S. Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK — (INS) — Children's clothes modeled after those worn by Britain's Royal Princesses are the newest outfits offered to American youngsters.

American mothers envy the excellent tweeds, fine tailoring and styling of the clothes but the clothes themselves are designed with the preference of the very young set in mind.

The Princesses, Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, often dress alike and both favor jackets with pleated skirts to match or contrast. They like their outfits interchangeable.

Three-button jackets in plain colors are worn with checkered skirts. Matching suede shoes and pull-on felt hats

Today's Lesson in Flag Etiquette

Never let the American flag touch the ground or the floor, or trail in the water.

Make sure the flag never touches the ground when placed in a fixed position upon a grave.

When used to cover a basket, the flag should be placed so that the stars are at the head in the upper right hand corner (over the heart) looking from the foot. The flag should not be lowered into the grave nor allowed to touch the ground.

The flag should never be draped over the hood, top, sides or back of a vehicle, train, automobile or boat. When displayed on a motor car, the staff should be attached firmly to the chassis or clamped to the radiator cap.

The shield of the United States has 13 vertical stripes, 7 white and 6 red, topped by a field of blue without stars.

"Very well. Here we are at the bridge. I'll wait in the machine till you get back." He pulled in at the side of the road, under some trees.

It was about a quarter of a mile to Gaby's hide-out: A cabin named "La Vilette" set in the pines above the water.

Jean first stopped at a neighbor's. She made inquiry and was informed that the cabin was occupied by a young French couple, a Mr. and Mrs. Armand Blanchard.

"He came from abroad about a month ago to take the new cure at the sanitarium," the woman told Jean. "His wife—if she is his wife, which I doubt—comes out for the week ends usually. I understand she sings in a nightclub. He's a pretty slick man, miss," the loquacious neighbor informed her.

Jean hurried down the pine-needled path, her heart hammering in her chest. She knocked on the door of "La Vilette," and the door was opened by a pale and emaciated but very attractive young man.

"May I speak to Madame Blanchard?" asked Jean. Now that she'd run her quarry to earth, she felt suddenly weak at the knees and in the pit of the stomach. She wished that she could turn and run.

"Madame Blanchard is out," the young man answered, politely. "Will you please to come in, mademoiselle?"

The pine-walled living-room of the tiny shack was full of flowers. There were no fewer than five photographs of Gaby herself on mantel, table and walls!

Two more, enlarged ones, of Gaby and Armand, with their arms about each other!

"Perhaps," asked Armand hospitably, "while you wait, you would like a glass of wine?"

"No thanks."

"She will soon be back. I do not like her to be gone long, she knows," Jean wanted to say something, to act naturally, but her tongue seemed to be weighted. More and more she wished she hadn't come here—hadn't listened to Green—

Sound of a car's brakes outside the shack. Then the door swung open—and in walked Gaby!

She turned ghostly white upon seeing Jean. Indeed, she looked ready to faint. Gaby grasped the back of a chair.

"Good afternoon, Madame Blanchard," Jean said quietly. There was a smile of triumph on her pretty young mouth as she added: "I hope you don't mind my making you a surprise visit?"

"But . . . but I am not Madame Blanchard, Jean! You know . . . I have never been married."

"Then what are you doing here now?" Jean's gaze swept the array of photographs of Gaby on table and crude walls. "Where," she demanded, "is the Madame Blanchard who lives here? I was just told she was out"—she looked at the young Frenchman—"and now you walk in."

Gaby's eyes went to the man in swift appeal. Something passed between them. He said: "Madame Blanchard is my mother. She has gone across the lake—to visit friends, mademoiselle. Gabrielle is spending the day only with us. We three—we have known each other a long time in Europe."

It was as if Gaby's tensed body relaxed. She sank into a chair.

Wedding of Miss Phipps and Mr. Hart Occurs on Christmas

A wedding ceremony which was solemnized on Christmas afternoon in St. James' Episcopal Church by the Rev. George E. Boswell, attracted a large number of residents. At the hour of four o'clock, Miss Margaret Elizabeth Phipps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phipps, 584 Bath street, became the wife of Mr. Ralph Wesley Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Wesley Hart, Bristol Township.

"I Love You Truly" and "Because" were vocal solos sung by Mrs. Horace Smith, of Bath Addition; and the wedding marches were played by Mrs. Minerva Epstein, organist.

The former Miss Phipps was attended by Miss Helen DeWitte, Edgely, as maid of honor; and the Misses Anita Zug, Jackson street, and Thelma Hart, Bristol Township, as bridesmaids. Miss Hart is a sister of the groom. The little flower girls were Patricia Phipps, Crofton, and Marcia Jane Phipps, Trenton, N. J., nieces of the bride.

Mr. Hart had as his best man, Mr. Vernon Howell, Dorrance street; and serving as ushers were Messrs. John Canfield, Garden street, and Joseph

Today's Quiet Moment

(By Howard L. Zepp, Th. M.)

Heavenly Father, pour out Thy light of heaven upon our hearts that we may in some measure comprehend Thy Gift to us. We thank Thee for this season's spirit of good will. Flood our hearts with love and envelop us with solicitude for all Thy children. Help us to hold this glow, so that we may not drop back into the abyss of bickering, fault-finding and selfishness from which we emerged to honor Thee at Christmas time. Amen.

Phipps, Philadelphia, a cousin of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attractively gowned in broad white satin, the skirt being floor length. At the front of the V-neckline was a cluster of flowers; and the short sleeves were puffed. A lace headpiece of floral design was finger-tip veil of lace. The bride wore white satin slippers, and carried a white prayer book from which was suspended a shower of white roses.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids wore gowns which were fashioned like that worn by the bride. Miss DeWitte, the maid of honor, was attired in pink brocade satin; and the Misses Zug and Hart in aqua brocade satin. Miss DeWitte's peaked bonnet was of pink net with rosebud trim; while the bridesmaids wore heart-shaped hats of net to match their gowns. Each of the trio of attendants wore long lace mitts matching the color of their gowns, silver slippers, and carried arm sprays of pink rosebuds.

The floor-length dress of Marcia Jane Phipps, one of the flower girls, was of blue taffeta, with trim of pink; while Patricia Phipps, the other flower girl wore pink taffeta trimmed in blue. A floral spray formed the head-dress, these matching the trim on the individual dresses. Each child carried a basket of flowers.

For attendance at the marriage ceremony Mrs. Phipps, mother of the bride, chose a gown of grape-toned chiffon velvet, a hat of black felt with flower trim matching her gown, and accessories of black. Mrs. Hart, the groom's mother, wore an ensemble of black. Each had a corsage of white sweet peas.

Following a reception at St. James' parish house, Mr. Hart and his bride left for a few days' trip to New York City. For the journey Mrs. Hart was attired in a dress of blue velvet, coat of teal blue with trim of brown fur, and she wore brown accessories. Upon their return they will reside with the bride's parents for a time.

Numerous Cases Are Settled At Session of Court

January. This new rule of court will greatly relieve the congestion of the regular terms.

Judge Boyer handed down the following divorces:

Mary Ellen McCole, Yardley R. D., against James B. McCole, 701 Garden street, Bristol, grounds, cruel and barbarous treatment. They were married June 3, 1933, at South Langhorne.

William Edgar Davis, Edgely, against Dorothy K. Davis, Willow Grove, grounds, desertion. They were married June 27, 1936.

The Court approved a compromise settlement this morning in the suit of Mrs. Frances Vandegrift Carpenter, of Furlong, against the estate of William Shive, amounting to $3500.

Mrs. Carpenter was seriously burned in an automobile accident on the Buckingham pike, which necessitated numerous skin graftings and plastic surgery at the Doylestown Emergency Hospital, where she was a patient for months. Her recovery has been very satisfactory. Mrs. Carpenter, who formerly was Frances Vandegrift, had hospital, doctor and medical bills amounting to $3038.60.

Russell Vandegrift, of Bensalem township, who was sentenced last November by Judge Keller to serve 4 months to 2 years in the Bucks County Prison, was granted a parole about a month before the expiration of the minimum sentence. Vandegrift was charged with wantonly pointing a firearm at his son.

Sheriff William L. Stackhouse informed the Court that he was sure that Vandegrift had "learned his lesson" and had been a "good prisoner." The costs were placed on the county. Vandegrift has a wife and several children.

ON THE SCREENS

BRISTOL THEATRE

Tingling drama and romance of Texas pioneer days are revived in Paramount's epic story of border adventure, "Rangers of Fortune," at the Bristol Theatre.

A trio of reckless cowboys under the spell of adventure are the heroes of the picture, and the partners of a fighting newspaper man against a powerful land-grabbing gang which uses terror and violence to carry out its purpose.

Fred MacMurray and Patricia Morison are the romantic leads; Albert Dekker, Gilbert Roland, Joseph Schildkraut and Dick Foran are leading featured players in "Rangers of Fortune."

GRAND THEATRE

The drama of life on the wrong side of New York Town is tellingly depicted in Warner Bros.' moving "East of the River," starring John Garfield, Brenda Marshall and Marjorie Rameau, which opened at the Grand Theatre last night.

John Garfield, who himself hails from the same setting used in "East of the River," plays his role with sincerity. Brenda Marshall, lovely looking screen newcomer, proves her fine talent in a role different than any of the several in which she has already won praise. Veteran stage and screen star Marjorie Rameau does a fine job as the Italian mother. George Tobias turns in another comedy performance that is quickly bringing him to the attention of moviegoers. And William Lundigan is capable as Garfield's adopted brother.

RITZ THEATRE

Any competent poll of Hollywood's screen luminaries will show a landslide majority in favor of "escaping from it all." Stars, producers and directors all find a change in social relationship and scenery vital to their personal happiness and success in their careers.

James Stewart, now appearing with Rosalind Russell in "No Time for Comedy" at the Ritz Theatre worked in 13 pictures before he came smack-up to the same conclusion. He was getting stale, he felt, and people were beginning to pall on him. It occurred to him that the sky was a good place in which to get away from it all.

TWO STATE COLLEGE BOYS TO SEE ACTION IN GAMES TONIGHT

Wilbur Van Lenten and Danny Di Midio to Play With Fifth Ward Club

BOTH GOOD PLAYERS

League Race is Close and Tonight's Games Are Important

Two State College boys will be seen in action tonight on the Italian Mutual Aid floor as the Fifth Ward Sporting Club meets the Rohm and Haas five in one of the most crucial games of the first half for the chemical workers.

The boys are Wilbur VanLenten and Danny DiMidio, both former members of the Bristol High School team. VanLenten played in the basketball league for a few games last season and proved a versatile member of the Grundy team.

The college boys are expected to strengthen the Warders enough to give them a triumph over the Maple Beach club. This can not be afforded by the "boys of Johnny" Cole as a setback will most likely eliminate them from the first half race.

The Profy team is leading the race with five victories and a lone defeat. Manhattan and Rohm & Haas and right behind the heels of the league leaders winning four and losing one.

Fifth Ward's starting line-up will be as follows: VanLenten, DiMidio, orio, DeLissio and Danny Pieo.

Manager Cole will start: Roe, Call, Everitt, Smith, and Vanzant.

Both teams are well equipped with substitutes.

The second encounter of the night brings together the Manhattan Soap five and the Knights of Columbus, the latter being the most improved club in recent weeks.

Since the signing of Zack, Bucknum, Nowalinski and Gavin, the Caseys have been labelled the bad boys of the league. The Radcliffe street five does not have a chance for any playoff position but is seeking to triumph over the leaders.

Manhattan was the surprise of the circuit last week when it stopped the Rohm and Haas team with a 49-39 victory. The soap-makers have a steady working clique that when it has an "on" night, just won't be beaten. They have this last week and need to have it tonight.

To stay in the running for a playoff post for the first half championship, the Manhattans must win tonight and to do this Manager Dugan will start the following: Gallagher, Mulligan, Snyder, Zefferies and Byers.

The officials of the league have announced that the games scheduled for next Wednesday night will be played on Thursday night.

All games begin at eight o'clock sharp.

by children of two deceased sisters, Deborah T. Randall and Phebe T. Dulton, Charles S. Randall, Elma Martindale, Hanna K. Randall, Aaron K. Dulton, Emma D. White, Mary E. Dupue, Mabel D. Tomlinson and Richard L. Dulton.

In the 12 pages of codicils, which were all hand-written, the testatrix named 21 individuals as heirs.

The codicils, which were all dated December 13, 1937, contained the following beneficiaries and stipulations: Charles S. Randall, 15 stipulations; Mary E. Dupue, 23 stipulations; Hanna K. Randall, 19; Anna E. Cornell, 35; Mabel Tomlinson, 22; Elma Martindale, 24; Emma White, 17; Richard L. Dulton, 4; Aaron K. Dulton, 10; Emily Stackhouse, 7; John F. Gill, 2; Bessie Homer, 3; Miriam Tomlinson, 2; Anna Hawkins, Mattie Cook, Leslie Gill and Osborn Feaster, each 2; Rebie R. Mitchell, 7, and Harry V. and Lynda Cornell, 11.

"The great Physician now is near, The sympathizing Jesus;

He speaks the drooping heart to cheer,

Oh, hear the voice of Jesus,"

God said, "This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased." Pilate said, "I find no fault in Him." The centurion said, "Truly this was the Son of God."

4: He Was Wonderful In His Death.

The death of Jesus was sacrificial and substitutionary. He bore our sins in His own Body on the tree. He was wounded for our transgressions and bled for our iniquities. He tasted death for every man.

Christ gave His life for the world, to draw all men unto Himself. He bore in His body every kind of sin and suffering of mankind. He was humbly meek and lowly in heart, and therefore suffered for sin more than anyone could ever suffer for it. By the shedding of His blood, which is efficacious for sin, we may have eternal life. He died that we might live. Truly His death was wonderful.

5: He Was Wonderful In His Resurrection.

Jesus said, "Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it again. No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again." Paul said, "If Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain. . . . and we are of all men most miserable. . . . But now is Christ risen from the dead."

The greatest sermon that angels ever preached was on the first Easter morning: "Why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen." Therefore, at this Christmas season, we worship a risen, living and glorified Lord, not a dead Saviour.

"He ever liveth to make intercession for His own." How blessed is the thought to the true Child of God, that He, who never slumbers nor sleeps, is ever and always praying to the Father for us.

6: He Is Wonderful In His Coming Again.

Jesus said, "Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in Me. In my Father's house are many mansions, if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself, that where I am, there ye may be also."

His return for those who have been redeemed by His blood, is imminent. He said He would come back. He is unable to deny Himself, therefore, He must come. Are you ready? Have you received the Saviour, whose birthday the world is celebrating, as your own personal Saviour? Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved."

War Truce at End

London, Dec. 26.—The Christmas truce in aerial warfare between Britain and Germany apparently ended this afternoon when anti-aircraft guns on England's southeast coast roared at an approaching enemy raider.

Today, although many thousands observed Boxing Day, for the first time since 1871 it was not officially observed as a general holiday.

War factories ran at full speed, the London Stock Exchange was open, millions of workers were at their desks in offices and all public services were functioning.

The raiding aircraft zoomed toward the coast shortly after midday. As soon as the ground guns went into action, the attacking plane turned back immediately.

Meanwhile, it was revealed that the Christmas season brought perfect "invasion weather" to the Straits of Dover.

As a result, yesterday and today Britain's heavily armed guards along the entire English Channel coast were doubled against the possibility of a lightning German Yuletide thrust.

Picked British troops, armed with automatic weapons, combed the beaches for any sign of suspicious activity and watched every cleft and fissure on the white cliffs along the coast. Still others scanned the Channel and Dover Straits.

said, "The heavens declare the glory of God;" they witness of His majesty. Indeed He was Wonderful in His creative power.

2: He Was Wonderful In His Birth.

The Gospel according to Matthew says that while Mary was engaged to Joseph, before they came together, she was found with Child of the Holy Ghost. The last verse of the first Chapter says, "He knew her not till she had brought forth her first-born Son; and he called His Name Jesus."

The virgin birth of our Lord Jesus Christ was the most Wonderful and unique birth in the history of humanity. He was born of a virgin, and His father was God.

3: He Was Wonderful In His Life.

He had Providential protection at the time of His birth, and while being tempted of the devil. His life was wonderful in its display of divine power. He healed lepers; leprosy is a type of the loathsomeness of sin. He healed a man who was sick of the palsy; palsy speaks of the enfeeblement of sin. He healed Peter's wife's mother of a fever; fever speaks of the suffering of sin. He cast out evil spirits from a demon possessed man; this speaks of the prevalence of sin. Our Lord demonstrated power over the souls of men, by removing sin from their life. The wonderful life of Jesus that captivated men's hearts, has not lost its power. He can save today as He did when here upon earth.

The virgin birth of our Lord Jesus Christ was the most Wonderful and unique birth in the history of humanity. He was born of a virgin, and His father was God.

3: He Was Wonderful In His Life.

He had Providential protection at the time of His birth, and while being tempted of the devil. His life was wonderful in its display of divine power. He healed lepers; leprosy is a type of the loathsomeness of sin. He healed a man who was sick of the palsy; palsy speaks of the enfeeblement of sin. He healed Peter's wife's mother of a fever; fever speaks of the suffering of sin. He cast out evil spirits from a demon possessed man; this speaks of the prevalence of sin. Our Lord demonstrated power over the souls of men, by removing sin from their life. The wonderful life of Jesus that captivated men's hearts, has not lost its power. He can save today as He did when here upon earth.

"The great Physician now is near, The sympathizing Jesus;

He speaks the drooping heart to cheer,

Oh, hear the voice of Jesus,"

God said, "This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased." Pilate said, "I find no fault in Him." The centurion said, "Truly this was the Son of God."

4: He Was Wonderful In His Death.

The death of Jesus was sacrificial and substitutionary. He bore our sins in His own Body on the tree. He was wounded for our transgressions and bled for our iniquities. He tasted death for every man.

Christ gave His life for the world, to draw all men unto Himself. He bore in His body every kind of sin and suffering of mankind. He was humbly meek and lowly in heart, and therefore suffered for sin more than anyone could ever suffer for it. By the shedding of His blood, which is efficacious for sin, we may have eternal life. He died that we might live. Truly His death was wonderful.

5: He Was Wonderful In His Resurrection.

Jesus said, "Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it again. No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again." Paul said, "If Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain. . . . and we are of all men most miserable. . . . But now is Christ risen from the dead."

The greatest sermon that angels ever preached was on the first Easter morning: "Why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen." Therefore, at this Christmas season, we worship a risen, living and glorified Lord, not a dead Saviour.

"He ever liveth to make intercession for His own." How blessed is the thought to the true Child of God, that He, who never slumbers nor sleeps, is ever and always praying to the Father for us.

6: He Is Wonderful In His Coming Again.

Jesus said, "Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in Me. In my Father's house are many mansions, if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself, that where I am, there ye may be also."

His return for those who have been redeemed by His blood, is imminent. He said He would come back. He is unable to deny Himself, therefore, He must come. Are you ready? Have you received the Saviour, whose birthday the world is celebrating, as your own personal Saviour? Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved."

War Truce at End

London, Dec. 26.—The Christmas truce in aerial warfare between Britain and Germany apparently ended this afternoon when anti-aircraft guns on England's southeast coast roared at an approaching enemy raider.

Today, although many thousands observed Boxing Day, for the first time since 1871 it was not officially observed as a general holiday.

War factories ran at full speed, the London Stock Exchange was open, millions of workers were at their desks in offices and all public services were functioning.

The raiding aircraft zoomed toward the coast shortly after midday. As soon as the ground guns went into action, the attacking plane turned back immediately.

Meanwhile, it was revealed that the Christmas season brought perfect "invasion weather" to the Straits of Dover.

As a result, yesterday and today Britain's heavily armed guards along the entire English Channel coast were doubled against the possibility of a lightning German Yuletide thrust.

Picked British troops, armed with automatic weapons, combed the beaches for any sign of suspicious activity and watched every cleft and fissure on the white cliffs along the coast. Still others scanned the Channel and Dover Straits.
